According to the information you entered on your 2016-17 FAFSA, the U.S. Department of Education has determined that your family income is below the income threshold to support a family of your size. We are required to collect some additional information.

For this purpose, you need to list all types of income and support that was received during 2015. DO NOT leave the resource section blank.

Some things to look at are:

- Wages earned in 2015 – Attach your W2 statements
- Tax-deferred pension and retirement savings – Attach your W2 statements
- Child support received
- Housing, food, and living allowances paid to members of the military, clergy and others
- Veterans non-educational benefits, VA Educational benefits
- Other untaxed income; money received/paid on the parent’s behalf, rent payments, utilities, help with food items
- Other income, i.e. military housing, SNAP, TANF, financial assistance from a religious organization
- Federal financial aid i.e. grants, loans, scholarship, work study
